

Product description Air slide systems

BERGU Airslides is a proven technology to transport pulverized materials. Our Airslides consist of a modular system with inlets, outlets and transport sections that are manufactured according to the desired criteria. The transport takes place by fluidization and gravity. The transport distance must incline at an average of 7° and never exceed horizontal position.

